

January 24, 2014

To Whom It May Concern:

Lark (Linda) West has requested that I write a letter of support for her application for the position of School Psychologist Intern at your school and I am happy to do so. Having taught Lark in classes and served briefly as her academic advisor, I am familiar with her early work in the school psychology program at The Chicago School of Professional Psychology. Throughout the time I have known her and in all of our interactions, Lark has shown herself to be a conscientious student who has a passion for the field of school psychology.

Lark comes to the field of school psychology with a broad range of experiences and skills in human service leadership and volunteering. Throughout our classes and interactions, Lark shared her experience and knowledge and was always willing to offer assistance to classmates. Lark takes pride in her academic work and consistently strives for deep understanding. Lark is a very self-reflective individual who regularly seeks opportunities to collaborate with others and contribute. Lark has a passion for social justice and thrives on opportunities to work with diverse students. She is eager to increase her knowledge and skills, and applies her learning wherever she can. Lark has strong leadership skills and a talent for looking at the big picture.

I highly recommend Lark for the position of school psychology intern in your district. She is eager for the challenge and support that an internship provides, and she is ready to take the next step in her professional development. If you require further information, please contact me at bmcgrath@thechicagoschool.edu or by phone at (312) 467-2507.

Sincerely,

Breeda McGrath, Ph.D., NCSP
Licensed Clinical Psychologist
Certified School Psychologist